

I have been amazed at the lack of good war coverage on TV and in our local newspaper, the Contra Costa Times. I am most thankful that KGO Radio is not owned by NBC. While NBC and others were airing what the Republican-controlled media wanted us to hear and see, KGO Radio was really bringing up the other side. We lose such diversity if the FCC rules June 2 that one corporation can own as many radio or TV stations in a community as they want. Clear Channel, which now owns over 1200 radio stations, already represents the nightmare that could possibly be ours. Please make sure that this does not happen.
